

LNG Americas, Inc.

Job Description

Job Title/Position: Business Analyst

Location: Houston, TX

Responsibilities

- Support Business Leads within the Business Planning Team in strategic initiatives
- Provide management and market insights for the company's existing investments, such as Bio-ethanol CCS projects
- Analyze and report on the company's monthly Profit and Loss (P&L) and annual forecasts
- Develop gas procurement strategies and support operational teams with commercial analysis and operational risk assessments
- Assist in securing new equity gas assets in North America, including identifying and analyzing target assets or companies, preparing internal reports, facilitating investment decisions, and supporting execution processes
- Perform market intelligence and research
- Conduct research and analysis on market trends, U.S. government policies and regulations, project updates, and emerging opportunities in natural gas, power, LNG, CCS, and related sectors
- Compile and present findings to management
- Other related projects, tasks and duties may be assigned

Requirements

- Up to 5 years of experience in the energy industry (preferred)
- Excellent communication skills (verbal, written and interpersonal) with the ability to engage effectively with individuals and teams across different disciplines and regions
- Team player with the ability to work well in a small team environment
- Strong problem-solving, strategic thinking, planning and analytical skills
- Ability to multi-task and prioritize time-sensitive work
- Exceptional time management and organizational skills
- Proficiency in software applications such as Microsoft Office, with advanced PowerPoint skills
- Fluency in English and Korean is required

Compensation:

- Flexible depending on the candidate